

Media Release

22 September 2015

Atlantic Minerals Limited would like to remind all moose hunters that hunting and the operation of all-terrain vehicles is strictly prohibited inside the boundaries of the quarry in Lower Cove. Employees and heavy equipment are operating within the quarry seven days per week and twenty-four hours a day during the hunting season.

Significant risks exist within the boundaries of our quarry. Blasting occurs in Lower Cove from April to December, which creates a greater risk for unauthorized personnel. There is increased danger for individuals who hunt and operate all-terrain vehicles within our operation. We want to ensure the safety of all hunters as well as the safety of our employees working in Lower Cove. Only authorized individuals are permitted access to our quarry.

Any individual who has a reason to enter our property is required to obtain approval by first reporting to the Security Office at the Main Gate in Lower Cove. We ask for the co-operation of the general public regarding this important safety measure.
